

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

PHILADELPHIA, February 9, 1904.

To the Board of Public Education of the First School District of Pennsylvania.

During the year just passed some improvements, and it is hoped gratifying advancements, have been made not only in the curriculum, but in other important matters confided to us for our consideration and action. Changes heretofore suggested have been made, some of which have proved entirely successful and satisfactory, and others yet in the experimental stage, which it is hoped may eventually, with some alterations, prove a movement in the right direction. The course of study ordained for the elementary schools still needs, in my judgment, some pruning and simplification. The great army of children who never get beyond the elementary schools should be furnished with an education as practical as the time spent therein can afford, and home work has been in some degree lessened, and I think this burden may be made still lighter. We have found that tri-annual promotions, heretofore recommended, have wherever followed worked for good, and our system is bringing the student nearer to facts rather than theories, to see and know rather than to read and recite. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon our teachers. Their intelligent labors have made our Elementary Schools equal to any in the United States.

THE TEACHERSHIP.

The introduction of a revised schedule of salaries for the teachers of the elementary schools makes it appropriate at this time to direct the attention of the teachers to the great necessity for continuing their professional and general training after they have entered upon their school work. The tendency of the age is to demand more continually from our public school teachers. To keep themselves in touch with the intellectual life of the community, they must read, attend lecture courses, associate in professional investigations, travel, and in many ways enter into the intellectual life of the community.

The enlarged appropriation for teachers' salaries is a striking illustration of the public recognition of the importance of the teacher, and I would most earnestly commend to all of the teachers of our public schools that they should continue to demonstrate in the future, as in the past, that they will merit this public approval by the earnestness and zeal with which they equip themselves more and more perfectly for the great responsibility which is committed to them. The recent activity of a number of educational associations, and especially the union of the entire body of the teachership in the Philadelphia Teachers' Association, are most auspicious signs for the future. The result accomplished by this association with the able assistance of its President, Prof. Franklin S. Edmonds, and seconded by the valuable aid of the individual teachers, in the limited time afforded for the work, was gratifying, if not remarkable.

The employment of permanent substitutes has not, it appears, given as yet universal satisfaction, the number registered being insufficient. To prevent a failure of what appears to be a desirable improvement in our substitute system, we must increase the compensation. Under our rule a substitute cannot take other employment, being always subject to call, and twenty dollars per month for a young lady who has spent many years and much labor to obtain a teacher's certificate, does not appear to be very attractive. The system may be right, but the pay is too small.

The attention of the reading public has recently been called to the necessity for adequate appropriations for repairs to and equipment of our schools. Many of our school houses are in a deplorable condition and very few are properly furnished and equipped. This condition of affairs has been known to our Board for many years, but at no time have our requests for sufficient funds to correct the evil met with success. It is, therefore, with some gratification that we find the newspapers at length coming to our aid and assisting to convince, it is hoped, those who control the purse strings that our complaints are well founded, our requests not idle. There is no city in the country which expends proportionably less for its school children than our own city of Philadelphia, and none, it is believed, more economically or with better results.

It is idle to say there is no money. There is nothing so important, except the public health, as the public school. The moral and intellectual strength, stability and advancement of the city depends upon the future citizen.

It is to be regretted that when our annual budget is presented to the Finance Committee of Councils all items in excess of a previous year are practically, without debate, referred to a secret sub-committee, which does not inquire of the necessity of such increase, of those who are able to explain it. From the reports of inspection made by our Architect and the Building Inspector upon our request and by order of the Mayor, it is at least doubtful whether some of the schools are fit and safe for occupation. This is a very serious matter and becomes not only Councils, but ourselves to speedily remedy it. It certainly is within our duty to see at all times that fire escapes and exits are in proper and safe condition. If funds can be obtained for this purpose, this matter should at once be remedied.

In April last the Legislature passed an act, which purports to be an amendment to the so-called Bullit Bill for the better Government of Cities of the First Class, creating a Department of Supplies and clothing that department with power and authority to "purchase, control and administer" all supplies needed in the business of the city. This new department claimed by authority of this act, the exclusive right to purchase, control and administer all supplies intended for the schools of the First District of Pennsylvania. Your committee to which the matter was referred were of opinion that the contention of the Director of the Department of Supplies, although supported by the opinion of the City Solicitor, was not well founded. The committee consulted three of the more prominent attorneys of the city, who were unanimously of opinion that the construction placed upon the act by the committee was correct. Desiring that the matter might be judicially settled before the annual appropriations were made by Councils, an attempt was made to bring the question before the court by an immediate amicable arrangement with the Law Department. In this, however, the committee were unsuccessful and we were, therefore, with much reluctance compelled to proceed adversely, John G. Johnson, Esq., generously offering his professional services to the Board, and the cause of education gratuitously. The argument took place before two of the judges of the Court of Common Pleas, No. 2, on the 19th of January, 1904. No decision has as yet (February 8th) been arrived at.

The committee felt that the powers and privileges conferred upon our Board by law should not be invaded and was a move in the direction of ultimately bringing the schools under political control, and it was, therefore, deemed an imperative duty due to the children and the public to protest at this initial step in that direction.

In my report for the previous year I took occasion to say that the accommodation with room sufficient to meet the demand for increased and increasing scholars was to be deplored. This condition still exists, although somewhat modified. An examination of the reports of the superintendent and architect will exhibit what has been done to relieve and accommodate overcrowded schools and districts. There is, however, much yet to be accomplished and it is thought that City Councils are not unmindful of the fact that more school houses are needed. It is expected that money for the purpose will be supplied out of the new loan, if that bill shall be approved by the people. I am of opinion, however, justified I think by careful inquiry, that the amount allotted in the loan bill for the erection of new school buildings will not prove sufficient for the intended purpose, but it will suffice during the time which will necessarily elapse requiring its expenditure.

In connection with the vast amount of work confided to and accomplished by our Committee on Elementary Schools, the successful establishment and maintenance of summer schools and playgrounds has been most pronounced. During the last year there were eight of these schools, having an aggregate enrollment of 3,800 pupils and 102 teachers; the playgrounds showed a total attendance of 453,633, all of which was supported by an appropriation of $20,000, a most encouraging result. If it is possible I would like to see the recommendation of the superintendent, with reference to the introduction of a limited amount of manual training, introduced into some of our elementary schools.

ARCHITECTS' DEPARTMENT.

During the past year the George H. Thomas Building, Eighth and Clearfield Streets, containing 15 divisions, the Hancock Building, Fourteenth Section; two wings to the Sheppard Building, two wings to the Sheridan Building, two wings to the Heston Building and two wings to the Pastorius Building in all 56 divisions, affording accommodation to about 2,300 scholars, were completed and occupied, and contracts were awarded for additional buildings expected to accommodate about 4,500 pupils. A contract was also awarded for the erection of a building for the Northeast Manual Training School, at Eighth and High Avenue, and the work thereunder is in progress.

A large amount of other work is also in progress, remodeling, improving and repairing in various sections of the city specified in the report of the architect hereto annexed.

THE LEWIS ELKIN FUND.

One hundred and seventy-four applications have been heard and acted upon. Of this number one hundred and twenty-ty-nine have been favorably considered and others held under advisement.

It was hoped that this fund would become available not later than September 1, 1903, but we have been disappointed chiefly because the Trustees appointed by Mr. Elkin's will, in order to avoid any question hereafter, declined to make payment until there should be a judicial interpretation of the words "no means of support," contained in the bequest. Our Board has interpreted these words as meaning "No adequate," or "No sufficient" support, and has limited the participation in the bequest to all applicants, otherwise eligible, whose income does not exceed $200 per annum.

The question will be decided by the court at an early day and this munificent gift will at once become available.

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL.

The increase in the attendance during the last year of this school amounted to more than two hundred and the total number belonging slightly above 1,600, and the character of the boys has been as gratifying, the principal reports, as the increase in the number. If the increase in the number of pupils for the next two years shall be as large as the year just passed, the Commercial Department will need a building of its own.

At the annual commencement in June 108 were graduated as bachelors of arts, 17 as bachelors of science, 34 as bachelors of science in economics, a total of 159, of which number more than one hundred are proceeding with advanced studies at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Lehigh, Cornell, State College, Haverford and Pennsylvania. There appears to be an urgent desire to have the course of study extended to six years, in order that the students may be fitted to enter the third year at the universities, and those who do not wish or have not the opportunity to enter universities, may have upon their graduation a fairly good collegiate education.

The course of public lectures given during the spring met with much interest and support from the public. They will, therefore be continued.

PHILADELPHIA NORMAL SCHOOLS FOR GIRLS.

The average attendance during the year in the Normal Department was 292. In the Department of Observation and Practice the average attendance was 478. Free scholarships were awarded, two to Cornell University; two to the University of Pennsylvania; one to the Women's Medical College, one to Bryn Mawr, and six to the Academy of Fine Arts.

Every member (165 in number) of the Class of 1903 passed without a condition in any subject.

I desire to especially call the attention of the Board to the suggestions made by the Principal in his report, annexed here-to, with reference to admissions to the school from neighboring colleges and the problems of the kindergarten course and permanent substitutes.

In the Department of Observation and Practice, the Principal reports, the work has been so organized and arranged that all student teaching, can be observed by the teacher of methods, whose subject was being taught, a re-arrangement of the roster being necessary to accomplish this desirable end.

HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

The number of scholars on the roll at the end of the year was 1,616. The number of graduates in June was 189. The usual proportion of the graduates entered college where they have been markedly successful. Some changes took place in the teaching staff. The Principal pays a high and deserved compliment to the teaching force of the school and gives them much credit for the high standing of the graduates wherever found. Some changes in the courses of the school are intimated by the Principal of which he promises to speak more fully hereafter.

COMMERCIAL HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

The Principal specially calls the attention of the Board to the urgent necessity for better accommodations for the pupils. This necessity I sincerely and earnestly confirm. The school is now in three buildings and with perhaps one exception, that of the Central, they are awkward, if not unfit for school purposes. The number of scholars increases from term to term with astonishing rapidity, and it is surprising what excellent results have been attained under many serious difficulties. This school must not only at once have another and suitable home where all the scholars can be brought together, but so popular has the course of instruction pursued here become that in the very near future other schools of like character and tuition must inevitably be established in other sections of the city.

It has been suggested by the committee, and I feel that the suggestion to be wise, that the course be extended to four years and that the character of the curriculum be so changed that such of the students as desire at the end of the second year to enter the High School in order subsequently to enter a course of the Normal School may do so. This suggestion will have the careful consideration of the committee during the present year.

CENTRAL MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

This is another school for which there is an immediate need for more room and better accommodation.

With room for 350 pupils, more than 600 have been taught and whilst it is true that some of them have found accommodation in the so-called "Annex," five squares distant from the main building, can it be believed the students are receiving the attention and instruction which they have a right to expect?

It seems desirable and perhaps inevitable not only must this school speedily be installed in a new and commodious building, especially adapted and equipped for the most excellent work which it has and is doing, but that schools of similar character should be established as early as possible in other sections of the city. As the Principal remarks in his annual report, to which attention is called, "manual training is a permanent factor in modern education."

At the commencement in June last 93 graduates received diplomas. Six have been awarded scholarships in the University of Pennsylvania, one to Lehigh University and one in the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art. Twenty other graduates have taken up advanced work in various higher institutions—Universities of Pennsylvania, Lehigh, Cornell, and Lafayette College.

NORTHEAST MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

The new building, intended to be one of the finest and best equipped in the country, cannot be completed and ready for occupancy too soon. There are already 712 students waiting for admission to it, enough to fill every room.

The average age of the pupils upon admission is stated to be fifteen years and four months. There have been several changes in the faculty.

At the June commencement diplomas were presented to ninety graduates. Seven received scholarships in the University of Pennsylvania, one in Lehigh University, and two in the Philadelphia Museum and School of Industrial Art.

The course of lectures given at this school and under its supervision were well attended and appreciated. This new departure is extremely creditable and its undoubted success well merited.

The Principal calls attention to the fact that whilst the attendance in the public schools of the city in ten years has increased 27 4-5 per cent., the appropriations have increased but 12½ per cent., and that whilst the attendance at this school has increased 137 per cent., the appropriations have been reduced 36 9-10 per cent.

The reports of the Principals of our two Manual Training Schools are entitled to the careful reading and consideration not only of the Board, but of the public.

INDUSTRIAL ART SCHOOL.

The total number of pupils enrolled for the Fall Term was 1,243, being 828 boys and 415 girls. Certificates were granted to 135 pupils upon the completion of a two-years' course; these graduates represented 53 of our schools. Four received scholarships in the Academy of Fine Arts, three in the Industrial Art School of Pennsylvania, one in the School of Design for Women, and two received appointments directly to the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art.

Illustrated lectures on art topics were held in the assembly room of the school and gave much satisfaction.

Professor Tadd has undoubtedly succeeded in infusing into this excellent and interesting school some of his personal enthusiasm, otherwise the record of the past year as shown by his report could not have been possible.

JAMES FORTEN SCHOOL.

At the close of the year there were 638 pupils enrolled in this school, with an average attendance of 518, of which 42 were colored. Nearly all of the others are Russian or Roumanian Jews. The lower grades are crowded and room cannot be found for all applicants for admission. Many have a very limited knowledge of the English language, but all are very studious and make rapid progress.

During the summer vacation a third story was added to the building and this will furnish accommodation for three more divisions and require the erection of a fire escape. In this connection it may not be improper to remark that a fire escape of the character now needed, it is estimated will cost about $1,500. The entire appropriation for fire escapes is but $1,000.

Some changes and additions were made in the teaching force.

In the Sloyd Department 75 boys have received training. There were also 111 boys from outside grammar schools which received weekly lessons of two hours each. A recent exhibition of the work of this department was very attractive and was much commended. Two hundred and seventy-six girls received lessons in cooking, 262 of whom were from the sixth grade of outside schools.

NIGHT SCHOOLS.

During the past year there has been a great expansion in the work of the night schools conducted under the auspices of the Board. Under the direction of the committee in charge, a complete reorganization was effected of the Evening High School which was marked by the following characteristics:—

First:—The introduction of foreign languages and of high school studies.

Second:—The organization of the Faculty into departments, each under the direction of a competent expert.

Third:—Provision for an examination at the conclusion of the course, with a determination in the future to issue certificates only to those who have satisfactorily passed this test.

Fourth:—The establishment of a formal period of instruction, consisting of two terms of ten weeks each, one prior to and the other succeeding the Christmas vacation.

As a result of these methods, the attendance of the Evening High School for Men shows a marked increase, reaching an average for the first term of 1,149, which represents more than 60 per cent. of the student roll, and it is the belief of those who have had this branch of the work in charge that there has also been a marked increase in the character of the scholastic side of the work.

The success of this school has naturally led to the establishment of an Evening High School for Women, and I am glad to report that while this school was opened for registration only in the first week in January, it has already taken its place as an established institution in our educational work. Not only is the capacity of the building taxed to the utmost, but there is in addition a large waiting list of those who will be glad to join the classes as soon as vacancies occur.

This leads to the thought that the time is ripe for the systematic extension of night school facilities. There can be no question but that men and women to-day have come to appreciate the value of an education as never before. The report of the United States Commissioner of Education, Dr. William T. Harris, shows that the average schooling of an American is limited to 998 days, or about five school years. In this section of the country the average is higher by about one year. But this would indicate that for the average man all training above the sixth school year must be received through some method of evening instruction.

The principals of the Evening High Schools report that they have encountered considerable difficulty in properly classifying many of the students who apply to them for instruction. This is one of the most important of the night school problems. If the student is placed in a section too far advanced for his capacity he soon comes to feel that the burden of obtaining an education is too heavy to be borne, and consequently ceases his attendance, and if placed in a section too elementary for his need, feels that he is not receiving the instruction that he wishes, and the same result ensues. It would be a great aid to the night school work, if the principals of grammar schools could issue to all pupils when they leave the school a succinct statement certifying the grade which they have completed. Those applying for admission to the Evening High Schools could present this record of work and hence be readily assigned to classes.

I would earnestly recommend, moreover, to the principals of all our schools, both elementary and higher, that when students leave the day school system, especially in the many cases when this result is compelled by the pressure of necessity, the principals should urge upon them the advantages of entering at once upon night school instruction. In some cases during the past year this has been done. If all of our principals would take this personal interest in the future of those who are obliged to leave their care, it would certainly result in a great extension of the usefulness of our system of evening schools.

It is true that as the night schools expand there will be a greater need of professional supervision of the character of their instruction. There can be no question but in those cities where a special superintendent of evening schools has been appointed there has been at once a response in the increased teaching efficiency upon the part of those whose work is thus brought under competent supervision.

LECTURE COURSE.

It is to be regretted that a request which has been made for several years by the Board of Public Education to City Councils that a sum of money should be appropriated for the purpose of providing for a system of evening lectures has not met with a favorable response. Lecture courses should be arranged for each of our great sections of population as an appropriate and efficient supplement to the night school course.

It is impossible that this work should be done thoroughly until some provision can be made for maintenance and support, but it is interesting to notice that many of our public schools have already arranged for a series of lectures given by volunteer speakers, and that the faculties of several of our high schools are now giving courses of lectures of a scientific nature adapted to a general audience.

I believe that if the record of all of this volunteer work could be compiled it would show that there has been a tremendous activity along this line within recent years, and it is appropriate that we should express our appreciation of this valuable and unremunerated work. Certainly the enterprising principal may feel sure that anything which makes his school a centre for educational life of the community is a good to the city and to the service of which he is a member.

The Departments of Drawing and Music have both done most excellent work and are entitled to the highest encomiums. The drawing and music in the public schools resulting from the care, judgment and professional skill of those entrusted with the work, is unexcelled in any other city in the land.

The work of the Committee on Compulsory Education and Special Schools is now entirely systematized and the success achieved is astonishing in view of the limited appropriation afforded for the purpose. The committee are entitled to many thanks for the results obtained.

Councils recently appropriated $4,000 to enable our schools to be represented at the St. Louis Exhibition. The money it is thought will be sufficient, but the space allotted is altogether too limited. Earnest endeavors have been made to obtain enlarged space, but so far without success. The Superintendent and the Principals of the schools will, it is thought, be able to make a very creditable display.

The expenditures of the Board during the past year show that 12,002 warrants were drawn on the City Treasurer in payment of bills and payrolls, as follows:—

In conclusion, I desire to add that the schools are making satisfactory advancement along all lines, my individual regret being simply that as I have already said—the present condition of some of our buildings, and the fact that our course of study in the elementary schools does not include etymology.

I desire to thank the several committees and the employees of the Board for their uniform courtesy and invaluable assistance during the past year.

Respectfully,

HENRY R. EDMUNDS,
President.

REPORT
PRESIDENT OF THE CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL.

FOR THE YEAR 1903.

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL,

PHILADELPHIA, December 31, 1903.

To MESSRS. JOEL COOK, Chairman; RICHARDSON L. WRIGHT, WILLIAM WRIGLEY, JOSEPH R. RHOADS, WILLIAM T.
TILDEN, JOSEPH W. CATHARINE, PAUL KAVANAGH, and
DR. WILLIAM H. SHOEMAKER, Committee of the Board of Public Education on the Central High School.

GENTLEMEN:—At the close of another Calendar Year, I have the pleasure to report to you the satisfactory condition of the school entrusted to your inspection and oversight by the Board of Public Education. While the year has been much less eventful than that which witnessed the dedication of our new school-house, it has been not less satisfactory in its results, in the large and regular attendance of pupils, in the diligence and efficiency of its teachers, in the freedom from gross disorder of every kind, and in the general good working of our staff.

The increase of attendance during the year amounted to more than two hundred boys at the opening of the year, bringing the total slightly above 1600; and while there has been the usual falling off in the intervening months, the attendance has been well maintained, and is as gratifying in point of the quality of the boys as in their numbers. Should a similar increase take place next school year, it will be difficult for us to accommodate them. This possibility brings before us once more the certainty that our Commercial Department will be obliged at no distant date to find accommodations elsewhere, and to take its rightful rank as an independent school, as it will do under the best auspices, with an excellent head and a well selected staff.

A notable event of the year was the visit of the Moseley Commission of British and Irish educators and persons interested in education. We have every reason to believe they were gratified with what they saw in our school, and while this was not confined to any one department, I may say that the organization and working of the Commercial Department seemed to give them especial pleasure.

As a consequence of our scattered condition before we obtained possession of the new school-house, it was difficult to enforce the rules about prompt attendance, when we were able to gather the whole body of our students into one assembly room; but this has been overcome, through the labors of a special committee on lateness, under the efficient chairmanship of Professor Willis. The lateness has been less than one in a hundred since this reform was effected.

At the Annual Commencement in June we graduated as bachelors of arts 108 students who had completed their course; 17 as bachelors of science; 34 as bachelors of science in economics—a total of 159. Of these more than a hundred are proceeding with advanced studies in universities (Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Lehigh, Cornell, State College, Haverford and Pennsylvania), or in technical schools. This very gratifying exhibit would have been still better if it had not been that a good number of our graduates were prevented from pursuing advanced studies by their inability to pay the high fees required by our universities, or, where these would have been waved, the cost of living in the university towns where they could have obtained free tuition. This state of things we, who know the capacity and character of these boys, must deplore as a loss to the community, as they are obliged to lay aside their studies and to enter upon careers of far more limited usefulness than those for which their natural endowments designate them. Hence our repeated and urgent desire to have our own course of study lengthened to six years, in order that our students as a body may be fitted to enter the third year at the universities, and that those who now stop at the close of a High School course may receive as good a collegiate education as given by the colleges and most of the universities of the land. I may remind you here that the Faculty adopted a carefully prepared minute on this subject during the current year. Since it was published it has received a strong confirmation from the University of Chicago, which has issued two pamphlets urging that the High School course everywhere should be made one of six years, so that those who have completed it may at once take up what is properly university work. With this judgment Harvard is entirely agreed.

Our teaching force has been altered but slightly during the year. Dr. William F. Craig has been added as Instructor in Biology. Mr. J. H. Graham has taken the Instructorship in Physics, vacated by the resignation of Mr. Jesse Pawling. Dr. E. V. Manning succeeds to the Assistant Professorship of German, vacated by the lamented death of Prof. George W. Schwartz.

The course of public lectures given during the spring of the present year in the Assembly Hall met with such interest and support from the public that the Faculty took steps to repeat them during the present school year with two courses, one in the autumn and the other during the coming spring. These lectures have been useful not only in the instruction they have conveyed, but in showing the range of personal ability and the extent of the equipment at the service of the school.

Again thanking you for the unfailing interest you have taken in our welfare as a school, and your many kind services to us, I remain,

Yours most truly,

ROBT. ELLIS THOMPSON,
President of Central High School.

REPORT
OF THE
PRINCIPAL OF THE PHILADELPHIA NORMAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.
FOR THE YEAR 1903.

To MESSRS. SIMON GRATZ, Chairman; JOHN M. CAMPBELL, THOMAS SHALLCROSS, MATTHEW J. WILSON, M. D., THOMAS A. GRACE, JOEL COOK, JAMES HUGHES, WILLIAM F. DEFRAVES, and ALEXANDER MCKNIGHT, Committee on the Philadelphia Normal School for Girls.

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to submit to you the report of the Philadelphia Normal School for Girls for the year ending December 31, 1903.

The average attendance for the year in the Normal Department was 292, and the average number belonging 305. In the Department of Observation and Practice, the average attendance was 478, and the average number belonging was 564.

The Course of Study remains as outlined in the report of the school for the year 1902.

CHANGES IN THE FACULTY.

Miss Mary P. Harmon, teacher in the Department of Psychology, and Miss Alice H. Beckler, teacher in the Department of Biology, resigned in June last.

Miss Elizabeth F. Hutchin, a graduate of Bryn Mawr College, was elected to the position vacated by Miss Harmon, and Miss Caroline W. Merrell, of the Class of 1899, and a graduate of Cornell University, 1903, was made assistant in the Department of Biology.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

City free scholarships were awarded as follows:—

Miss Anna E. Kirchner, Miss Mary E. Bolger, Cornell University.

Miss Bessie G. Hanley, University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Jessie G. Frame, Woman's Medical College.

Miss Irene S. Eldridge, Bryn Mawr College.

Miss Hannah K. Cameron, Miss Arla H. Duke, Miss Alice Ethel Martin, Miss Bertha D. Morris, Miss Levinia Slifer, and Miss Hedwig Wiley secured scholarships in the Academy of the Fine Arts.

The Class of 1903, which numbered 165, had a remarkable record. Every member passed the work of the Senior Year without a condition in any subject.

BROADER SCOPE FOR ADMISSIONS.

When the Normal School was organized, and for some time thereafter, the number of students who came to it from the Girls' High School was ample to supply the city with teachers. This condition, however, has not been maintained, and in recent years the supply from that one source is far less than the capacity of the school, and, therefore, inadequate for the needs of the city.

It is quite certain that the Normal School would attract graduates of such colleges as Swarthmore, Bryn Mawr and Cornell, if opportunity to obtain professional training in it as teachers were offered to them. The departments in this school present peculiar advantages to college graduates wishing to enter any grade or class of public school work. Refinement, intelligence, and thorough intellectual discipline are personal endowments which command the highest premium in the educational world. Such graduates, if obtainable, would occupy with greatest effectiveness the most exacting parts of the field.

THE KINDERGARTEN PROBLEM.

In the last two years thirty teachers have left the Public Kindergartens of Philadelphia. Some have taken positions in the grades and others have entered Kindergartens in other cities, or in private schools where the inducement was larger. During this time nine kindergartners have been graduated from the Philadelphia Normal School, and at present there are no Normal Kindergartners to fill vacancies or do substitute work. This condition of affairs is reacting disastrously upon the public work. inasmuch as inefficient kindergartners, long out of practice, are being appointed, and in some classes teachers are doing substitute work, who do not hold the prescribed certificate.

It is hardly necessary to repeat here what is so well known to the Committee, that graduates from this department receive unqualified praise from supervising principals, from the Director of Kindergartens, and from those in authority in other places in which they are teaching. That our public schools should reap so little benefit from the Normal School in this respect is greatly to be regretted, and a remedy should be sought. The Director of Kindergartens reports that it is to the serious detriment of the work that graduates from other training schools, so called, must now be taken to supply the deficiency. Not only are these teachers deficient in regard to special points of training, but they are notably lacking in that esprit de corps essential to success in their professional work.

Respecting the kindergarten problem, experience has taught us that it is quite impossible for students to take the special training required for kindergarten teaching, and to receive at the same time adequate preparation for the work of the grades.

While it cannot be doubted that the period of two years in the Normal Course and an additional year in the Kindergarten Course are absolutely needed to qualify any one to receive both certificates, the impracticability of requiring an additional year for those who desire only the kindergarten certificate, is apparent. It gives ideal training, it is true, but the inducements otherwise offered in the post-graduate Kindergarten Course have not been sufficient to make it attractive.

From the advanced position we have attained there should be no retreat. Every student should receive one year's training in kindergarten principles, and every graduate desiring both the grade and the kindergarten certificate should take the additional year for the latter. But it is doubtful if we are justified in requiring those who wish to qualify for the kindergarten certificate only, to take a year longer than is demanded of those who take only the grade certificate. In other words, the course, if possible, should be so arranged that applicants for either class of certificate may complete it in two years, while those desiring both classes of certificate shall take an additional year.

In accordance with these thoughts, it is suggested, first, that the rules governing the issuance of certificates remain as at present when both classes of certificate are desired; and, second, that the course for kindergarten be made elective; that it cover a period of two years of successful work and practice; and that at the end of that time a certificate be issued qualifying the holder thereof to teach in the kindergarten.

THE SUBSTITUTE PROBLEM.

The action of the Board of Education virtually placing graduates of the Normal School on an active substitute list immediately after graduation should tend to improve the character of the service rendered. By the daily experience which the young teacher is getting through contact with the teachers and the children, she is qualifying herself for more efficient work because of the wider and more practical knowledge she is gaining. It is unfortunate that the number available is not large enough to meet the demand.

In its efforts to place the substitute service on a practical basis, the Committee on Elementary Schools of the Board of Education had a variety of perplexing conditions to meet. Insufficient number, smallness of salary and individual preferences—either of principals of schools or of candidates—were some of the problems which called for careful judgment and consideration. The Committee in almost every case acted in accord with preferences expressed, and, respecting the compensation, it will doubtless move for an increase as soon as it finds such a course of action feasible and possible. After carfares and luncheons are paid for, there is little left of $20 per month for other necessities, and it is only by personal thrift, good health and the most exacting economy that one may hope to be self-supporting in the substitute service.

With the number inadequate to the pressing needs of the schools, it was difficult to effect an organization. Nevertheless, more could be accomplished by system than without it. Given an adequate force to draw upon, reporting daily at a number of centres which are readily accessible to various portions of the city, a central office or bureau for information and direction, and free telephone service between all the schools if possible, but especially between the centres, and with the central office, and there is no doubt of the result. Until these conditions shall be realized, no plan, however well conceived and faithfully carried out, will successfully meet the needs of the schools in this matter of prompt and efficient substitute service.

OBSERVATION OF STUDENT TEACHING.

September 1903 saw the work of the school so organized that all student teaching could be observed by the teacher of methods whose subject was being taught. In order that this might be accomplished, it was necessary so to arrange the roster that the student should teach at the time indicated by the program of the grade teacher when the teacher of methods was free from class duty. To effect such an arrangement was not easy. Other changes, tending in every case to more wholesome conditions, closely followed. The result has been a division of labor in the work of the critic teachers, a larger degree of co-operation between the two departments, better preparation and greater confidence on the part of the student teachers—mainly because of sympathetic help and skilful direction—and a delightful professional spirit manifested by our students.

The additional labor thus imposed upon these members of the Faculty has been accepted in characteristic spirit. Indeed, if it were not for their valuable suggestions and cordial co-operation, their unselfish sympathy and loyal support, no measure, whatever inherent excellence it might possess, would in its results be more than sounding brass or tinkling cymbal. These faculty virtues in lively exercise, give spirit and life to every movement and furnish cause each day for profound gratitude.

In conclusion, I desire to express to the Chairman and members of the Committee my sincere appreciation of their cordial support, and at the same time to express the hope that the new year will deal kindly and bountifully, in health and strength and lofty purpose, with all who are interested in the highest welfare of the School, whether in Committee, Faculty, or Student-Body.

Respectfully submitted,

J. MONROE WILLARD,
Principal.

REPORT
OF THE
PRINCIPAL OF THE PHILADELPHIA HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.
FOR THE YEAR 1903.

To MESSRS. JOSEPH W. CATHARINE, Chairman; SIMON GRATZ, RICHARDSON L. WRIGHT, PAUL KAVANAGH, THOMAS E. MERCHANT, THOMAS G. BARRETT, FREDERICK A. SOBERNHEIMER, THOMAS SHALLCROSS, and CHARLES S. TURNBULL, M. D.

. MR. CATHARINE AND MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE:—I respectfully submit the following annual report of the Philadelphia High School for Girls for the year ending December 31, 1903:—

| | 1902 | 1903 |
|--|------|------|
| Number belonging January 1 | 1496 | 1591 |
| Average number belonging during the year .. | 1508 | 1542 |
| Average number attending during the year.... | 1419 | 1461 |
| Number admitted during the year | 883 | 756 |
| Number left during the year | 788 | 740 |
| Number graduated June | 219 | 189 |
| Number belonging September | 1876 | 1738 |
| Number on roll December 31 | 1591 | 1616 |

In comparing the above figures, the number admitted and the number left during the year 1903 have been decreased by a change in practice under which pupils enrolling in June, but failing to appear in September have not been counted as admitted. Upon the basis of 1902 and preceding years, the number admitted during the year would be 859, and the number left during the year 843.

During the year the following teachers severed their connection with the school: Miss E. L. Bull, Dr. A. M. Jefferson and Miss M. D. Griffith. The places thus vacated have been filled by the appointment of Misses Elizabeth Reinhardt, Mary H. Geisler and Adeline H. Jacobs. The resignation of Mr. John H. Humphries takes effect at this time. To provide for the vacancy thus created, Miss Jessie E. Allen has been made Head of the Department of Ancient Classics and Miss Lydia T. Boring has been appointed a teacher of Latin.

The number of graduates was last year somewhat less than usual, there being 189 as compared with 219 in 1902. This decrease does not seem to have been due to any permanent cause, as the number of members in the present graduating class is slightly in excess of the enrollment of two years ago. The usual proportion of our graduates entered college and the reports of their work there and in other institutions of higher or professional study continue to be gratifying.

Upon entering on my duties as principal of the school, it seemed to me wise at the outset to carry on the work of the institution as nearly as practicable by the methods and under the forms already in use, reserving for a later period any suggestions of change which experience might show to be desirable or important. I have been greatly impressed by the efficiency of the organization under which, from the very first day of the school year, work has gone on with great quiet and with apparent effectiveness.

After consultation with the Chairman of your Committee, I thought it wise to change the form of the records of the school, and, with his approval, a system of card catalogues of pupils, and card records of scholarship, etc., has been installed, which promises to render the work of keeping records somewhat easier, but whose great advantage will be the readiness with which, in the future, reference can be made to the standing of any individual who has been a pupil of the school since this system of records was adopted.

Early in my connection with the school my attention was called to the allegation that our program of study involves undue requirements of pupils. This charge was repeated from so many sources and came in such definite form that I have thought it right to give the matter careful examination. The subject is of such importance as to make hasty action exceedingly unwise, and I have, therefore, kept the matter before me while consulting with heads of departments, teachers and parents. I hope to be able within the next few months to reach final conclusions upon the subject and to put in force such measures as shall seem adapted to meet the difficulty.

An examination of our three courses of study and of the numbers of pupils engaged in each, has rendered me dissatisfied with them in several important particulars. I have thought it wise, however, to defer any proposition of change until after at least one full year in the school shall have made me more familiar with the working of the present arrangement.

The last annual report of my predecessor called your attention to the fact that both the exterior and the interior of the school building were at that time in need of renovation and that the walls of the classrooms were sadly in need of paint. This unsatisfactory condition of the building is even more apparent at this time, and I respectfully urge upon your attention the importance of extensive renovation. Many of the rooms in which our school work is done are so situated or so arranged as to require the frequent or constant use of artificial light. As we are dependent upon illuminating gas for this purpose, our pupils frequently work under the disadvantage of breathing vitiated air in addition to that of the unsatisfactory light. On dark days I have frequently found the air in certain parts of the building so loaded with the products of combustion as to be quite unsuited for respiration and I would repeat the suggestion which I made some time since to your Chairman that a system of electric lighting be installed.

In closing this report I desire to testify to the efficiency and devotion of the members of our teaching staff. Coming among them a stranger to almost every individual, I have been greatly impressed as I have made their acquaintance, by the uniformly high standard of preparation for their professional work and by their personal devotion to the good of their pupils. In my experience as a teacher, now of considerable extent, I think I have never been associated with a teaching body on the whole so eminently fitted for the particular work in hand, and with this thought in mind, it is not difficult to account for the high standing which this school has maintained in the educational world.

I thank you for your never-failing kindness and support.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. W. BIRDSALL,
Principal.

REPORT
OF THE
PRINCIPAL OF THE COMMERCIAL HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.
FOR THE YEAR 1903.

To THOMAS G. BARRETT, SIMON GRATZ, THOMAS E. MERCHANT, JAMES HUGHES, WILLIAM WRIGLEY, PAUL KAVANAGH,
CHARLES E. DAVIS, WILLIAM H. ZIEGLER, M. D., WILLIAM H. SHOEMAKER, Committee on Commercial High School for Girls.

MR. THOMAS G. BARRETT, Chairman:—At the beginning of 1904, I have to report various changes in the Faculty of the Commercial High School for Girls. Miss Mildred B. Lamont and Miss Harriet Wilde severed their connection with the school, and there were added to the Faculty, Misses Viola E. Godfrey, Mary D. Griffith, Emilie Breyg Hill, Anna K. Thompson, Carolyn Wood Stretch, Emma Wolfenden, Esther V. Davis, Caroline N. Keeler, and Katherine Hurlburt. Miss Nelene Groff Knapp was made a teacher and Miss Ellen A. Nugent, secretary. Misses Anna D. Obermiller and Elizabeth M. Davis were appointed clerical assistants.

Though we might, having now started on our second decade, point with some pride to the accumulating evidences of our success, we are more concerned with the future, more anxious “to press forward to those things that are before.” A new building is our most urgent need. I ask attention to a few details that will emphasize the conditions. We occupy three buildings, in no one of which can we gather the pupils in less than four detachments. Of our teaching force, forty-four in number, sixteen members teach in two of the buildings, and of these, two must go to all three. In every such change, time is lost, and still more important, momentum is lost.

It is very difficult to give an explanation of the conditions, or even to illustrate them. The force of the situation lies in the infinitely multiplied details that develop out of these main facts. There is not a single administrative function in which a disproportionate degree of time is not expended by reason of the unfortunate separation. Clerical work is complicated to a degree only to be understood by those doing it. It is also difficult to gather teachers for meetings after school, and every teacher attends two such meetings every month while some attend three. It is difficult for teachers who have classes in different buildings to meet pupils after school who desire special assistance, and every teacher gives one day a week for that purpose, some give two. It is all but impossible for heads of departments to exercise the proper supervision of classwork, as their own prevents absence from the one building. A monthly department meeting is a poor substitute for even the casual visit or glance that could be given if classes were under one roof.

Every effort has been made to reduce these obstacles and we are running, to superficial observance, as smoothly as if they did not exist. They do exist, however, and our need is great and imperative. The present resources are taxed to the uttermost. Practical, ingenious, substantial sympathy on the part of an interested Chairman and Committee, loyal and earnest support of teachers can go no further. Our phenomenal growth (nearly fifty per cent. in three years) is our plea for immediate rescue from present conditions. We do not at all mean to complain, but we do want to be so equipped that we can do the work that we see to be done.

The very departments in which the school is intended to specialize are so cramped and hindered that any measure of success is an amazement. Our stenographic classes ought to be put on the same basis as that recognized as necessary for laboratory work, in which every pupil's work is superintended at the time of its doing, step by step. Our classes in business methods should have rooms in which the actual conduct of business could go in miniature.

The greater part of our main building would no more than accommodate our needs in this direction alone. The absence of such opportunities involves injustice to our pupils and to the reputation of the school. We know that other schools have needs and we are glad to see them met, but has any school struggled under our difficulties? Our growth has far exceeded that of other schools and particularly within the three years of its independent life. We have not sacrificed the care of individual pupils to numbers, either. It is sometimes said that a deplorably small percentage of pupils admitted to higher schools is graduated. Our record, as shown by statistics printed in the papers this fall, places us second among the higher schools of this city in the percentage graduated. Is it strange that we plead for a place in which to do what we know can be done?

Six years ago, when we existed as a department of the High School for Girls the then President of the Board incorporated in his annual report, the following sentiments:— “Such separation of the pupils must be a serious interference with the orderly and methodical conduct of any school. It is not only an annoyance to both teachers and pupils, but it involves a loss of time and destroys the unity of school life. . . . The two schools, which most need larger and better accommodations are the Central Manual Training School and the Commercial Department of the Girls’ High School. Neither of them now has a building that is at all suitable either in construction or adaptation to the particular use, or that even approaches adequacy in size. It is much to be regretted that such useful and important schools should not receive the consideration they well deserve.”

If six years ago, this emphatic statement was made, how much more weight does it now have. True, our quarters have twice been changed since then, but the drawbacks remain. If I could add anything more, I should dwell upon the loss of unity in school life, referred to in the passage just quoted. I only fear to trespass upon time and patience if I enter upon that subject. Besides, nothing is so difficult of demonstration as a self-evident truth. It must be its own evidence, or argument fails.

It is a pleasure to turn now to some of the happy and encouraging occurrences in the school history. One difficulty has been modified by the installation of an elevator in the main building. The passing of classes and teachers is greatly facilitated and we are very grateful for the assistance.

In the next place, we are glad to mark the cordial interest of our own graduates. Once a month, an "At Home" evening at the school gives them an opportunity to gather. These occasions are quite informal and social in character. Every February, a general or mass meeting is held and some entertainment is furnished. We shall be obliged this year to borrow from our opposite neighbors their beautiful auditorium in which to gather. They did lend it to us last May, when, on the twenty-ninth, we held exercises celebrating Memorial Day. That occasion brought together parents, friends, members of the Committee, and representatives of the Grand Army. The patriotic songs and addresses were enthusiastically received. Generals Mulholland and Huidekoper, Colonel Beath and Major Veale spoke for the Grand Army.

We have to make acknowledgment also, of the kindness shown us on several occasions by various persons, who have given the school from time to time the benefit of their scholarship and varied experiences of life. Dr. Felix E. Schelling, of the University of Pennsylvania, Professor Henry S. Pan-coast, one of the best known Philadelphia critics and writers, Dr. Robert Ellis Thompson, of the High School for Boys, Mr. Edward Shippen, known to all members of the bar, Dr. Edward Brooks and several of the Assistant Superintendents, Professor Angelo Heilprin, whose name is now known all over the scientific world, have been so generous as to spare us time out of their busy days. We thank them heartily.

The happiest of all the public occasions celebrated by the school is its Commencement Day. In June of 1903, our one hundred and seventy graduates were addressed by Dr. Talcott Williams, whose eloquent and sympathetic words found interested response in the great audience and in the attentive graduates. His forcible and convincing plea for the school was echoed and emphasized by Henry R. Edmunds, Esq., President of the Board of Public Education.

In conclusion, I have only to add my repeated thanks for the kind interest shown by the Committee whose support is never lacking in all that can be proposed for the betterment of the school.

Yours respectfully,

EMILY L. GRAHAM,
Principal.

CONDITIONS.

This enrollment of six hundred and sixty-six students is compressed into a narrow and antiquated structure intended for wholly different educational purposes, and originally accommodating not much more than half of our present number. This simple statement of adverse conditions does not in itself convey any adequate idea of the difficulties with which we are beset in attempting to do full justice to the requirements of each pupil. The problem is one which taxes the mind and the emotions, and strains to the uttermost the consciousness of educational responsibility.

Obviously, the only practical solution is a larger building. But it takes time to build new schoolhouses, and in the meantime the interests of hundreds of boys are suffering for want of suitable accommodations. A partial solution of the problem is found in that educational makeshift, the Annex; and when that building is some five squares away, the question becomes still more complicated, and simply resolves itself into a matter of doing the best that can be done under existing conditions, with the disturbing sense that the educational output is on a distinctly lower plane.

The rapid development of the manual and commercial high schools is the strongest indication of the demand on the part of the industrial and business community for an educated class of young men and women capable of doing the everyday work of the world. In providing for the growth of this practical educational movement, the school authorities have fully realized that the trend of the best educational thought is toward the de-centralization of the higher schools, and the establishment in convenient, local geographical centres, of those secondary schools whose special and distinctive features have in view practical living and practical citizenship.

The erection of a modern and completely equipped manual training school in the northeastern part of the city is the first step in that direction, and it is to be hoped that the realization of the demand for similar schools in the northwestern, southern, and western Philadelphia will be accomplished within the present decade.

The great northwestern part of the city, with its large and constantly increasing residential population, contributing as it does a larger relative percentage of high school pupils than any other part of Philadelphia, would logically seem to be the next locality whose educational claims for a higher school should be recognized.

The selection of a spacious lot at Twenty-sixth and Master streets, and its transfer by the City Councils to the Board of Education for the erection of a building to take the place of the present Central School is a long step toward the realization of our "hope deferred." To those of us who have "borne the burden and heat of the day" it seems only a matter of simple justice that this school, the mother of the manual training movement in Philadelphia, the school that has contributed so largely in making manual training a permanent factor in modern education, should in the very near future be induced with a proper external equipment.

In the meantime, however, the needs of the boy of to-day are as imperative as those of the boy of the future, and it is incumbent upon the school authorities to provide him with the best that can be given under existing conditions. The probabilities of a still larger class next September, and the consequent proportional enlargement of the upper classes, necessitates additional accommodations to carry on the everyday work of the school. The enlargement of the present chemical laboratory and the extension of the electrical laboratory are matters of absolute necessity, if the work of these departments is to be maintained in their present high degree of efficiency. The construction of an additional room in the middle part of the building facing Wood street, would at a comparatively small cost, provide the school with these needed accommodations.

EQUIPMENT AND SUPPLIES.

So far as the funds would permit, it has been the policy of the Committee to add to the equipment of the school, year by year, such mechanical appliances and apparatus as are necessary to keep the school fully up to the constantly advancing requirements of the times. With rapidly increasing numbers of students and higher prices of materials, it has been impossible, within the past few years, to provide for anything else than the bare necessities of the shops and laboratories. As a result, the efficiency of the equipment has been materially affected. As a matter of fact, the amount appropriated this year was not sufficient to meet the everyday wants of the school. With a full knowledge of these conditions, the Board of Education asked for an appropriation of six thousand dollars for the coming year, but evidently through some misunderstanding, or want of knowledge of all the circumstances, Councils have appropriated only four thousand dollars, a sum entirely insufficient to meet the absolutely necessary working needs of the school. When it is considered that the amount asked for ($6000) is less than a dollar a month to provide each boy with the essential materials,—lumber, iron, lead, steel, tools, supplies for the chemical, physical, and botanical laboratories,—it becomes only too evident that the school will be seriously crippled, unless additional funds are provided.

ADMISSIONS.

The plan of admission to the higher schools by exemption continues to be satisfactory, and the results seem fully to justify the wisdom of a system which recognizes the value of honest daily effort. Generally speaking, the exemptions have been judiciously made, and it is the opinion of the teachers that the scholarship of the recent classes is on as high a plane, at least, as that of the classes of former years.

Another step in the direction of simplifying the present cumbrous and time-wasting methods of determining admissions to the higher schools has been taken by the Superintendent of Schools in his recommendation to the Board of Education that such examinations shall be conducted in the pupils' own schools instead of being held in the schools to which they seek admission.

The present method necessitates the withdrawal of the faculties of these latter schools from their regular duties, and the consequent cessation of high school work some two weeks earlier than need be. The services of both high and elementary school principals, as well as their assistants, are required in marking papers at the central office at a time when their presence is most needed at their own schools. It is the unanimous desire of the principals of the higher schools that the Board may see its way clear to adopt this recommendation of Dr. Brooks.

ADDITIONS TO THE FACULTY.

The appointment of Mr. H. Clay Borden as assistant in the laboratories makes him the fifth graduate of the school on its teaching force. Mr. Borden's work has been highly successful, his special training and knowledge of the personal needs of the students making his services of the greatest value in the laboratory work. In this connection it may be of interest to the Committee to know that some twenty-five or more of the graduates of the school are engaged in the profession of teaching,—ten in the University of Pennsylvania, two in the Central High School, five in our own school, and the rest in various educational institutions throughout the country.

The selection of Dr. Henry R. Burch as assistant in the Department of Literature has also proved to be an admirable addition to the Faculty. Owing to the large increase in the number of pupils, the duties of Dr. Burch immediately assumed the proportions and responsibility of the work of the regular teachers, and I deem it only a matter of justice to his valuable services to recommend him to be advanced from the grade of assistant to that of regular instructor from the first of the year (1904).

COMMENCEMENT.

Both the Commencement and Annual Exhibition claimed an unusual share of attention from the friends and patrons of the school, the one illustrating the academic side of the school, and the other the concrete outcome of the shops and drawing rooms.

The Commencement,—the Sixteenth,—was held in the South Broad Street Theatre on the afternoon of June 12th. The salutatory and valedictory addresses were made by Charles F. Bauder and J. Faber Hanst, respectively. The principal speaker of the day was the Mayor of Philadelphia, Hon. John Weaver. The diplomas were awarded to the ninety-three graduates by the Chairman of the Committee, Mr. William J. Manning. An interesting address on the subject of the "Annual Exhibition of the School" was made by another member of the Committee, Mr. Charles H. Edmunds. The Isaac A. Shepherd gold medal was awarded to J. Frank Greathead, the first honor man, and the silver medal to Charles F. Bauder, who attained the second honor.

Scholarships in the University of Pennsylvania were granted, in order of their standing, to J. Frank Greathead, Charles F. Bauder, Elmer D. Alburger, William J. Fitzmaurice, Mandes Golder and Henry P. Webb. J. Faber Hanst was awarded a scholarship in the Lehigh University, and Andrew M. Strang received a scholarship in the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Arts. In addition to these prize scholarships,—the logical outcome of faithful effort,—some twenty other graduates have taken up advanced work in various higher institutions, the Universities of Pennsylvania, Lehigh, Cornell, and Lafayette College.

It is a matter of regret that every year, several of the brightest boys of the class, just failing to win the scholarships, are compelled for pecuniary reasons to forego a college education. Liberal as the University of Pennsylvania and the City Councils have been in providing scholarships for the best fruit of our public school system, it would be a paying investment to the city if the number should be so increased as to take in every ambitious student whose proved ability makes him worthy of the best education the country can afford.

It should be understood, however, that while the manual training school is the open door to a higher education, it is in no sense to be regarded as a preparatory school to the college or to the technical school. It is intended, rather, as a school to fit the student for life, and its curriculum has in view the broadest needs of all its pupils. To those who for various reasons have been obliged to drop out of the school at the end of the first or during the second year, the training they have received, although incomplete, has helped them in the effort to grasp the practical utilities of life. If at the end of the third year,—in addition to his immediate fitness to take up his life's work, the graduate is also prepared to take up successfully college work,—a distinct educational gain is scored. That he is so prepared is the testimony of the heads of all the higher institutions that have been appealed to for an expression of opinion on the subject.

MANUAL EXPRESSION.

Some one has said that the difference in people is not in the things they know, but in the way they know them. This fine distinction strikes the keynote of the true meaning of manual training. If the manual training school stood for the mere making of things, there would be no reason for its existence, for the trade school and the shop,—whose end is to mould boys into industrial machines,—could do the work much better.

The application of the principle,—that instruction in mechanic arts could be made a matter of mental training rather than mere knack or skill, was a new chapter in the history of pedagogic lore, and the putting into the curriculum of a school tool instruction side by side with literature, science, and mathematics, marked a radical departure from the conventional system whose chief function is the training of the mind along the lines of lingual expression. The whole question—the value of manual training—is so admirably stated in a recent editorial in the Public Ledger, that I may be pardoned if I conclude this report by quoting the writer in full.

"The desirability that everywhere boys and girls be taught to use their hands as well as their brains is especially great in the case of a country largely engaged in manufacture. Slowly public school authorities are coming to see the folly of turning out graduates, who with comparatively well-informed minds, are helpless of hand, unskilled of eye, and utterly unable without years of additional education to earn a living or to take their part in the world's work. In the manual training school the boys and girls will not only equip themselves for useful and comfortable lives, but will learn the ennobling joy of trained labor, the pleasure of creating useful and beautiful things, to acquire that mastery of material—that strong and sure touch—that resourcefulness in which it is so important that the growing generations be trained, if the United States is to lead the great industrial nations of the world."

In closing this report, I desire to thank the Committee for their cordial support and co-operation in all the measures that have been taken during the past year for the welfare of the school.

REPORT
OF THE
NORTHEAST MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL OF PHILADELPHIA.
FOR THE YEAR 1903.

To MESSRS. THOMAS SHALLCROSS, Chairman; JAMES HUGHES,
WILLIAM MCINTYRE, MATTHEW J. WILSON, M.D., CHARLES H. VANFLEET, WILLIAM F. DEFRAVES, GEORGE N. LOWERY,
H. A. P. NEEL, M. D., and THOMAS A. GRACE, Committee on Northeast Manual Training School.

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to present the report of the Northeast Manual Training School for the year ending December 31, 1903.

ATTENDANCE.

The number of students in each of the several classes at the beginning and at the end of the year is shown by the following statement:—

| | January 1, 1903 | December 31, 1903. |
|--------------------------|-----------------|--------------------|
| Senior Class | 99 | 163 |
| Intermediate Class | 206 | 227 |
| Freshman Class | 330 | 322 |
| Totals | 635 | 712 |

To furnish accommodations for the additional students the Committee on Property, Mr. Paul Kavanagh, Chairman, placed at the disposal of this school three rooms in the third floor of the Mahlon H. Dickinson building at Girard avenue and Dunton street. The average age of the class admitted was fifteen years four months, the average height five feet two inches, and the average weight one hundred and six pounds.

FACULTY CHANGES.

It is a sad duty to record the death of a member of the Faculty. On the morning of August 31st, Professor Warren

H. Detwiler met with an accident which caused his death later in the day. During the two years that Professor Detwiler served as Professor of History and Civics in this school he displayed rare ability as an instructor. He was greatly esteemed by his associates and respected by the students. His untimely death is a great loss to the school and to the profession.

Professor J. Irvin Robb, who for several years had been Superintendent of the Public Schools of Bryn Mawr, was elected to the vacancy.

The admission of a large Freshman Class in June necessitated additional instructors. Professor Milton B. Wicks was selected as instructor in Mathematics and Physics, Mr. W. Wesley Stevenson in Freehand Drawing, and Mr. John Wildemore in Constructive Drawing. Mr. Henry Brachhold was subsequently elected assistant to the principal. These gentlemen entered upon their duties at the beginning of the term in September. They have given evidence of ability as instructors and of their excellent influence upon the students of the school.

COMMENCEMENT.

The annual Commencement was held in the Garrick Theatre, June 11th. Mr. Thomas Shallerross, Chairman of the Committee, presided and presented diplomas to ninety graduates. Rev. Charles E. Burns, D. D., offered the invocation, and President Joseph Swain, of Swarthmore College, delivered the oration. The salutatory address was given by William Winfield Downey, and the Valedictory address by Edward Pollitt, who won first honor. Henry R. Edmunds, Esq., President of the Board of Public Education, presented the Isaac A. Sheppard gold and silver medals to George R. Brooks and William A. Schnell, respectively. Claude T. Taggart, President of the Alumni Association, presented the gold alumni medal to Edward Pollitt. The music was furnished entirely by the Orchestra and the Glee Club of the school under the direction of Mr. A. Oswald Michener, Instructor in History.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

The Committee on Scholarships of the Board of Public Education, John M. Campbell, Esq., Chairman, subsequently awarded free scholarships in the University of Pennsylvania to the following in order of rank at graduation :—

|----------------------|-----------------------|
| Edward Pollitt, | Frank R. Cupitt, |
| Samuel D. Hawley, 2d | Edward A. Ross, |
| Joseph Handler, | Israel George Levene, |
| John H. Warnick. | |

William W. Downey and William T. Burns, who were graduated number seven and eight respectively, declined the scholarship which was subsequently awarded to John H. Warnick.

Elmer Shaffer won the scholarship which was offered by Lehigh University, and Abraham Bastow and Theodore E. Holden those offered by the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art.

LECTURES.

Five years ago the Faculty of this school made a departure in public school educational work in offering a course of lectures to present to the public the broader aims of high school culture, and to establish closer relations between parents and instructors. The large and increased attendance at these lectures from year to year has encouraged the members to continue the work.

The first lecture of the present course was given on the third instant by Professor L. L. Ford. His subject was "Great Land Lines, or Finding the Shape and Size of the Earth." The other lectures in the course are:—

Friday evening, January 15, 1904.—"Berlin and Paris. Historical Gleanings" (illustrated), Prof. A. Louis V. de Chateaunuef. "Die Wacht am Rhein" and "La Marseillaise" will be rendered by the Glee Club. "America" by the audience.

Friday evening, February 19, 1904.—An evening with Shakespere's "Macbeth." Lecture by Dr. Lemuel Whitaker, "Shakespere's Historical Plays." Readings from "Macbeth," by Miss Ida E. Heyl, Prof. Charles C. Heyl, Dr. Lemuel Whitaker. Original Shakespere music rendered by the Glee Club and the Orchestra.

Friday evening, March 18, 1904.—"Radium," Dr. George Flowers Stradling.

The music at each lecture will be furnished by the musical organizations of the school.

ANNUAL EXHIBITION.

The Annual Exhibition of school work was held May 28th and 29th and attracted the interest of the parents and the public. It is a serious problem to attempt to entertain the large numbers that on such occasions crowd into the limited space offered by our building. These exhibitions are, however, impressive object lessons. They have proved an important factor in educating the public to the real aim, scope and character of the work done in these schools. Until last year a very important feature of the work of this school in arousing interest and in establishing sympathetic relations with parents was an annual reception by the students of each of the classes to their parents and friends. With our present attendance there is no room in our building large enough to seat the students of a single class. It is, therefore, impossible to attempt to entertain parents in a body.

SUGGESTIONS.

The following figures from official records are presented for inspection and consideration :—

| Year | Total Attend. in Public Schools | Total Appropriation | Attendance N. E. M. T. S. | Instruc- tors | Total Approp- riations to N. E. M. T. S. |

* Estimated.

† Does not include $900,000.00 for new High School building.

The total attendance in the public schools of Philadelphia in ten years has increased twenty-seven and four-fifths per cent.,—the total appropriation has increased twelve and one-half per cent. The attendance at this school has increased one hundred and thirty-seven per cent., and the appropriations have been reduced thirty-six and nine-tenths per cent. While endeavoring to make the most of existing conditions the meagre appropriations seriously affect the working of the school. A proper knowledge of the needs will doubtless insure a response from those in authority. This year the Senior Class numbers one hundred and sixty-three. The present equipment in the manual department was deemed necessary when used by half that number of students. The hours of instruction per week to each class in the manual department is necessarily relatively reduced.

In 1898 there were seventeen instructors, each of whom teaching thirty hours per week, made five hundred and ten hours of instruction per week possible for three hundred and thirty-six students, or an average unit per student of one and one-half hours. In 1903, with twenty-four instructors teaching thirty hours per week, made seven hundred and twenty hours per week of instruction possible for seven hundred and twelve students or one and one-ninetieth hours per week average per student. It is, therefore, evident that each student can now receive only two-thirds of the amount of instruction in the several branches that was possible five years ago.

With the rapid advances in the industrial and scientific world the later and improved apparatus and equipment are necessary in a school of this character. Works of reference and periodicals devoted to science and mechanics are as important as text books in history and mathematics. We have the nucleus of a valuable library, now numbering nearly two thousand five hundred volumes, which is daily used by the students of all classes, and yet it has not been possible to buy a new book for nearly three years.

These statements are not made with the thought of criticism or of complaint, but simply to present facts of vital importance for the consideration of all who are interested in the development, the welfare, and the usefulness of this school.

Since the organization of our manual training schools in this city from forty-eight to sixty per cent. of each class that entered have completed the course. The statistics gathered from five of the large cities of this country show that from twenty-one to thirty-eight per cent. of the pupils complete the courses in their higher schools. The manual training schools in our city were not organized as preparatory schools, yet the incentive to higher education is shown by the fact that of the eight hundred and eight young men who have been graduated from this school two hundred and seventy-five or thirty-four per cent. have entered college or professional schools. The excellent, and in many cases distinguished, records made by the graduates pursuing courses in University of Pennsylvania, Cornell, Lehigh, and in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology attest the value of the training received at this school.

Five years ago there were three hundred and thirty-six students on the rolls of this school with a faculty of seventeen instructors in one building. With the admission of a large class in September, 1902, a building at Second street and Girard avenue was opened as annex accommodating about one hundred and fifty pupils. With the admission of a Freshman Class of three hundred and thirty-nine pupils in September last, three rooms in the Dickinson building, Girard avenue and Dunton street were secured. The school now has seven hundred and twelve students in attendance with a faculty numbering twenty-five scattered in three buildings. Under these conditions the problems of administration and of carrying on the work of the school with the least loss of time, and with the greatest benefit to the students are not readily solved. Last year it was possible to arrange the roster so that classes assigned to a building remained in that building for the day, the instructors changing at the end of recitation periods. For this year, however, with two annexes it was not possible to make a roster that would admit of such an arrangement. At the end of certain periods some classes must now change from one building to another with all the demoralizing temptations that such conditions present. I am pleased to report, however, that up to the present time the students have shown a commendable spirit in assisting the faculty to meet such distracting influences with the least possible annoyance and loss of time.

NEW BUILDING.

During the year City Councils have made an appropriation of three hundred and twenty-seven thousand dollars for the erection of a new building for this school at Eighth street and Lehigh avenue. The contract for the completion of the building in January, 1905, was awarded in June, and the foundations have already been begun. The corner-stone will be laid next month under the auspices of the Alumni who have taken an active and enthusiastic interest in securing a building commensurable with the needs of the school.

I desire to make an official record of my appreciation of the devotion of the members of the Faculty and of their faithful work during the year, and of my gratitude to the Committee for the encouragement and support which have made the duties of another year so pleasant and congenial.

Very respectfully,

ANDREW J. MORRISON,
Principal.

REPORT
OF THE
JAMES FORTEN ELEMENTARY MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

FOR THE YEAR 1903.

To MESSRS. ALEXANDER P. COLESBERRY, Chairman; WILLIAM T. TILDEN, WILLIAM MCINTYRE, JOHN M. CAMPBELL, WILLIAM H. R. LUKENS, HARRY T. KINGSTON, CHARLES E. DAVIS, ALEXANDER J. WHITTINGHAM, and THOMAS J. BUCHANAN, M. D., Committee on the James Forten Elementary Manual Training School.

GENTLEMEN:—At the close of the year 638 pupils are enrolled in the James Forten Elementary Manual Training School. The average attendance was 518 pupils. But 42 pupils of the number belonging are colored. Nearly all of the others are Russian or Roumanian Jews. Although the Jewish settlement is considerably south of the location of the school many more children apply for admission than can be accommodated. Our lower grades are always crowded; for it makes no difference at what age they enter, all must begin in the first grade, because of their inability to speak English. A few of them have attended school in the old country. These know something of numbers, and have also formed studious habits. As soon as they understand our language they make rapid progress. If they begin school when they are six or seven years of age they acquire the English language without a foreign accent. If they are older, an accent is usually always perceptible and the arrangement of the words in the sentence singular. Every Jewish child receives a religious home training. In the lowliest home there is regular instruction from the Old Testament. Every Friday evening the father gathers his household around the supper table, on which a candle burns for each member, and leads them in an exercise of worship.

Certain days of feast or fast are observed either in the family or in the synagogue. On the day of Atonement every boy over twelve years of age attends the synagogue to "afflict his soul" for the sins of the year. At the feast of the Passover the family assemble in the evening, and the ceremonies, instituted by Moses for the children of Israel, are followed. The roasted animal, with the bitter herbs, and the unleavened bread are partaken of by each one. The father chants religious selections in Hebrew, and the family unite in singing a psalm. This dignified service, often amid poor surroundings, needs to be seen to be appreciated. There are seven Jewish holidays during the year, and when they fall on school days the parents discourage school attendance. All efforts in urging the children to be present have been futile. Only a few of the lax in the faith come, and they refuse to do any work in which the hands are employed. It was a comfort to discover that in the lost school time, so much deplored by their teachers, morality and self-control were being fostered.

In the summer vacation an addition to the school building was begun. A third story is being added to the front part. This enlargement will furnish room for three more divisions.

A sixth grade has already been opened. A fifth grade has been the highest heretofore. The break caused by leaving the school at the end of the fifth year often became the occasion for the ending of school life. It is hoped that the maintenance of a sixth grade will be an inducement to parents to permit their children to continue one year longer. A desire, too, to carry forward the manual work of the school through one more grade will be gratified.

In September Miss Annie L. Hay resigned her position as kindergartner. Miss Margaret A. Paul was appointed to fill the vacancy. Two new teachers have also been appointed. Miss Mary W. Selden began teaching in October, and Miss Anna S. Loughery in November.

In the sloyd department 75 boys have received training. Also 111 boys from five outside grammar schools have had a weekly lesson of two hours duration. In June an exhibit of sloyd work attracted many parents and friends to visit the school.

In the cooking department 14 girls from the new sixth grade received lessons, also 262 girls from the sixth grade of five outside schools.

The long-wished-for addition to the school building is nearing completion. The congested condition of the lower grades will soon be relieved.

The attention of the Committee is now called to the inadequate yards, and to the classrooms that are darkened by the proximity of surrounding buildings.

Respectfully yours,

HANNAH A. FOX,
Principal

During the past season the illustrated lectures on various art topics commenced last year were continued in the Assembly Room of the school and gave great satisfaction to the children.

Lectures were given and slides shown on the following subjects:—

In October the Moseley Commission from England visited this country to study the various methods in education.

Two members of the Commission, Rev. Herbert B. Grey, D. D., Warden, of Bradfield College, England, and W. C. Fletcher, Esq., Principal of the Liverpool Institute, spent an entire afternoon, visiting the classrooms and inspecting the methods of the Art School. Both members of the Commission repeatedly expressed great delight at the excellence and value of the work and the methods employed.

It is with deep regret I beg leave to refer in this report to the death of Charles G. Leland, author of the famous "Hans Breitmann" ballads during the past year in Italy at the age of 79.

Charles G. Leland was undoubtedly the pioneer of Industrial Art and Manual Training in the public schools in this country. He founded the Public Industrial Art School in 1880, and was its first director until the year 1884, when he went to Europe never to return.

I cannot do better than quote from a recent article in the art column of The Press.

"Charles Godfrey Leland has no more enduring monument than the Public Industrial Art School which he founded. It has greatly improved its work and extended its usefulness now that it has its own building at Park avenue below Master street; and its award of certificates to 164 pupils last Friday evening in the Assembly Room of the Philadelphia Normal School for Girls succeeded nearly a week in which work of the school had been displayed afternoon and evening.

"This school grew out of Mr. Leland's devotion to the minor arts, and was originally suggested to him by his personal observation of Oriental artificers in Cairo. More than a score of years ago he began the school in a small way in the upper rooms of the Hollingsworth School.

"No one who saw him at work there among the children is ever likely to forget the zeal, the enthusiasm and the inspiring skill with which he awakened in one child and another the artistic spirit. His idea and theory of education was original. It had been suggested by no one else. It added to mere industrial work the touch of art, and the seed once planted has grown and developed in many directions. His pamphlet on the subject, published by the United States Board of Education nearly twenty years ago, had a large circulation, not only in this country, but all over the world. It has greatly modified industrial training everywhere.

"The school which he started has gone on developing and will soon round out its generation of usefulness. It has become the center of the system, developed by J. Liberty Tadd, who has been for many years its most successful instructor. It draws its students from pupils all over the city, and its training ought, and, when its work is properly appreciated, will be made obligatory on all teachers. No better system has been devised anywhere." * * *

Mr. Charles G. Leland was something more than a well-known litterateur when he started the work in the public schools of Philadelphia. He was a skilled handworker himself, and had a complete idea of the practical side of the question and its application as well as a theoretical one. No man engaged in the work of education to-day had a keener sense of touch in certain directions than Chas. G. Leland. It was a revelation to see his large hands, big heart and giant form moving among the little children, and to feel that the impulse came entirely outside of self to him. He turned over the money to me for the work. I worked for pay, he for love, in the early days. The fact that we tried seventeen different methods of handwork proved the earnestness with which we struggled with the problem of hand training in the public schools. The mechanical methods had to go, one after the other, after trial in various directions. Only after striving and struggling up above the use of instruments of precision, rules, compasses, mechanical methods, etc., could we recognize the futility of their use in developing the mind, the judgment, the eye, and the hand. Only by trying, testing and proving the fallacy of the old methods did we emerge into the light of better ways. Flat copies, feeble art methods, abuse of geometric forms and blocks (making blockheads) false, artificial and unnatural systems devised for money-making purposes were tried and proved wanting. A number of trade processes were tested with similar results, until we actually, and by experience, came down to fundamental facts, and on these have built up a system reasonable, feasible, without great cost, perfectly adapted to all grades from kindergarten to the university—a system that can be applied without friction to every kind of educational institute, only limited to the capacity of individuals—a system governed by natural law, working with the absolute precision of nature itself. * * *

REPORT
OF THE
DIRECTOR OF DRAWING.
FOR THE YEAR 1903.

MR. SOBERNHEIMER AND MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE ON DRAWING:—It is with much gratification that I am able to report that the work in drawing in the elementary schools is progressing most satisfactorily. The subject is being taught with more intelligence and spontaneity on the part of the teachers and carried out with more thoroughness and technical skill on the part of the pupils than ever before. The artistic standard of the work is being constantly advanced, as the requirements of the course are better understood and the importance of industrial art as a factor in our civic life is now clearly realized.

It has been my endeavor from the first, in directing the work, to lay a good foundation of correct objective drawing; believing as I firmly do that this is the pure requisite of all good art, pictorial or decorative. This phase of drawing is well understood at the present time and the quality of its execution is most satisfactory. Decorative and construction drawing are now receiving relatively more time and attention than heretofore.

A circular has been prepared and recently sent to the teachers emphasizing the industrial value of design applied to the construction and decoration of useful articles. It is my opinion that some form of constructive work should be engaged in by the pupils of the elementary schools. Except for the few exercises included in the course in drawing no time is given between the kindergarten and the manual training school to the construction of any material thing; yet construction of some kind will be the ultimate employment of the great majority of our pupils. I believe that even apart from the practical value of constructive work, the social and ethical qualities which are involved and promoted through participation in it are alone inestimable. Somewhat of the same moral and social stimulus that arises from the community of interests that are inherent in and that makes the work of the manual training school and of our special schools so successful would be infused into the work of the elementary grades if manual training of an artistic character were introduced. One of our supervising principals in commenting on the curriculum of our special schools made the whimsical, but true, remark "that a boy had to be bad nowadays to receive the best kind of education." The course in drawing includes manual training exercises of the character suggested, and I am advising at the present time that simple forms of constructive work that easily relate themselves to the ordinary exercises in drawing receive comparatively more time than heretofore in the drawing period.

I take pleasure in warmly commending the faithful and efficient work of my able assistants, spent in the service of the teachers. Without their well-directed efforts the high standard of efficiency of the work could never have been attained nor be maintained. By their energy they are able to visit all schools, except a few in the Thirty-fifth Section, once in five weeks. Many large schools are visited more frequently. I have myself paid over two hundred (205) visits to the elementary schools in the course of the year. The course of monthly lectures to the students of the School of Pedagogy were given as heretofore.

I desire to thank the Committee for their uniform courtesy so constantly extended to myself and staff.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM A. MASON,
Director of Drawing.

REPORT
OF THE
COMMITTEE ON NIGHT SCHOOLS.
FOR THE YEAR 1903.

*To the Board of Public Education
of the First School District of Pennsylvania:—*

In compliance with the provisions of the By-Law of the Board, the Committee on Night Schools herewith submits its annual report of the schools under its supervision for the term of 1903-1904.

Forty-nine schools were opened for registration of pupils on the evenings of October 12th, 13th and 14th; the regular term commencing on the following Monday evening, October 21st, with an enrollment of 12,506, an increase of 753 over that of the preceding term. The total enrollment of 24,380 showed an increase of 4217. The average number belonging during the term was 15,708, an increase of 2224, and the average attendance was 10,105, which was 1231 in excess of the attendance of the previous term. Sixty-four per cent. of the average number belonging was the record of percentage of pupils present.

Of the total enrollment, the classification, according to ages, was as follows:—

|--|--------|
| Under fifteen years of age | 4,747 |
| Between fifteen and twenty-one years | 13,390 |
| Between twenty-one and thirty years | 4,414 |
| Between thirty and forty years | 1,347 |
| Between forty and fifty years | 388 |
| Over fifty years | 94 |

The average age of all pupils was nineteen years.

The number enrolled, who were native born, was 17,477, and those of foreign birth numbered 6,903.

The most notable result of the Committee's work during the past winter was the reorganization of the Evening High School for men under the able supervision of Prof. Franklin S. Edmonds, who at the earnest solicitation of the Committee, agreed to take the principalship of said school.

As a result there has been a decidedly marked improvement in the school, not only as to the more than doubled attendance, but also to the advanced character of the instruction given under the general supervision of the several heads of departments. The report of the principal of this school, attached hereto, will give information in detail of the results accomplished.

The Committee found, after the schools were opened in October, that there was a general demand for an Evening High School for women, and, after careful consideration of the subject, agreed to establish such a school in the old Céntral High School building now occupied by the Commercial High School for Girls, beginning January 4th, of the present year, with Mrs. Lucy L. W. Wilson as principal. From the opening of the school its success was assured and it was quite evident that the Committee had supplied a long felt want in the matter of night school opportunities to the women of this community.

While the Committee is conscious of the fact that there are defects in our night school system yet to be remedied, the general advancement made during the past year is perhaps indicative of the results the Committee hopes to attain without making sudden radical changes in the present method of government.

It is suggested that perhaps it would be well to change the name of night schools, and the Committee recommends that hereafter the words "Evening Schools" be used instead. This would not only afford a better designation of these schools, but would be in keeping with the titles given the Evening High Schools.

With no thought of making a comparison of the work accomplished by the different schools, it is perhaps quite proper to refer to the German English School, on Third street, below Green, attended exclusively by pupils of German birth, and the Washington School, at Ninth and Carpenter streets, composed entirely of pupils of Italian birth. Quoting from the report of the former school, Prof. Alfred E. Hertzog, says: "The school was founded by the German Society of Pennsylvania in 1867, in response to the ever-increasing need of giving immigrants of German tongue an opportunity of speedily acquiring a thorough knowledge of the English language. This enterprise was so successful that it soon became necessary to enlarge its sphere of usefulness by increased facilities which were afforded four years later, when the Board of Public Education incorporated the school with its own system. It was opened as a public night school November 13, 1871. The work of the school is not altogether elementary since there are to be found among its pupils men who have enjoyed the benefits of higher education in the schools and colleges of their native countries."

This school has grown, both in numbers and popularity, to such an extent that it is proposed next year to locate it in a building where it will have more commodious quarters.

The school at Ninth and Carpenter streets, conducted under the able supervision of Agnes T. Kelly, might be appropriately termed the "Educational Night School Centre" of that portion of our city which is sometimes designated as "Little Italy." It is a well-established fact that this school has been most influential in Americanizing this class of citizens of foreign birth. It is not an uncommon sight to see an entire family, husband, wife and the older children, in attendance at this school, endeavoring to overcome their difficulty in speaking the English language, and the system in vogue is so simple, yet effective, that most rapid progress is made by this earnest class of night school pupils. The school being so largely attended, the principal has so graded it that, regularly, at the end of each term, it is possible to send to the Evening High School for men, a number of pupils who have finished the work of the eighth year and who are ready to take up the work of the higher school.

The grading of night schools in this manner is what the Committee hopes to accomplish in the near future, though it must be admitted that it is a problem difficult to solve.

In keeping with the other departments of the school system, the Committee has had prepared a suitable exhibit of night school work for the St. Louis Exposition, which it is firmly believed will compare favorably with that of other cities.

The following statement of the finances of the Committee is submitted :—

REPORT OF
FOR THE YEAR 1903.

The noble and beneficent charity of the late Lewis Elkin, who, for many years was a member of the Board of Public Education, will, in all probability, shortly afford a comfortable living to not less than one hundred and fifty worthy and needy women, who have given the best years of their lives to the instruction of the youth of Philadelphia, and who, from physical disability, are no longer able to earn a livelihood in the teaching profession or elsewhere.

The Committee of the Board, appointed pursuant to the provisions of the By-Law which prescribes the requisites for participation in the benefits of this fund, has given a large amount of time to hearing the applications of those who have asked to be made beneficiaries. This By-Law is so precise and definite in its directions that there was no difficulty whatever in determining the eligibility of any applicant. Nor did the provisions of the By-Law, or of the Will, work any hardship to a deserving applicant except in the rare cases where the full service of twenty-five years in our schools had been nearly, but not quite, completed.

One hundred and seventy-four applications were heard and passed upon by the Committee. Of this number, one hundred and twenty-nine were acted upon favorably; the remainder being either declined or held over for further action.

It was the hope and belief of the Committee that the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives, Trustee under Mr. Elkin's will, would, not later than September 1, 1903, have commenced payment to the beneficiaries whom the Committee was then prepared to certify to it. This hope has been disappointed, partly because the income from the fund was at

A nine-division building at Sixtieth and Cedar avenue, in the Twenty-seventh Section, at a cost of $43,587.00.

A six-division building at Oxford and Hedge streets, in the Twenty-third Section, at a cost of $34,737.00.

The above buildings will be completed and occupied during the year 1904.

In addition to this the contract was awarded for the erection of the Manual Training School Building, at Eighth and Lehigh avenue, for the use of the present Northeast Manual Training School, this building will cost $326,957.00.

In addition to the above work the Vaughan School building was entirely remodeled and modernized.

The Landenberger School was also considerably improved and added to.

We have under way extensive alterations to the old building purchased by the city on Bainbridge street, above Ninth street, which will give us good accommodations for fourteen new divisions.

There is also an old building back of the one we are fixing up that can be prepared to provide fair accommodations for six more divisions.

We abandoned one division at No. 725 South Twelfth street, two divisions at Eighth street and Montgomery avenue, and four divisions at Nos. 4918 and 4920 A street.

We rented one division at No. 705 South Twelfth street, one division at No. 756 Preston street, one division at No. 3103 North Broad street, and four divisions at Second street Pike and Rockland street.

Yours truly,

J. HORACE COOK,
Architect.

SECTION 1. The Committee on Evening Schools shall have sole supervision of all evening schools that may be opened by direction of the Board.

SEC. 2. Prior to September 23d, of each year, the Committee shall designate a sufficient number of schools at which persons desirous of becoming pupils of evening schools shall register; and shall make suitable provision for the opening of such schools on the evenings appointed for registration. Such preliminary registration shall end not later than October 1st, of each year.

The registration of pupils shall be limited to those who do not attend a day school, public or private.

No one under seventeen years of age shall be registered as a pupil without the written approval of a parent, guardian, employer or some responsible person.

SEC. 3. After ascertaining the number of pupils enrolled, the Committee shall report to the Board, for approval, at its stated meeting in October of each year, the locations of the evening schools to be opened, their grades or character, and the times for opening and closing them. It shall at the same time report the names of all persons who, in the judgment of the Committee, should be appointed as Supervisors, Principals and teachers of such schools.

SEC. 4. Excepting in the rural portions of the city, schools shall be organized upon the basis of eight, or more, divisions to each school.

Divisions shall be formed upon the basis of an enrollment of twenty-five pupils for each class; and no division shall be maintained where the average attendance therein falls below sixteen.

SEC. 5. When the average attendance in any division falls below sixteen, the teacher whose services can, in the judgment of the Principal of the school, and the Supervisor of the District, be best dispensed with, shall be dropped.

Such Principal shall visit each division every evening, for the purpose of stimulating and encouraging the pupils, and to render such assistance in the management and instruction of the pupils as will best promote their individual progress. In the rural districts, in schools of less than eight divisions, the Principal shall teach a class.

SEC. 9. The Committee shall, in conference with the Superintendent of Education, prepare suitable Courses of Instruction for the elementary schools and for any special school that may be established. These Courses, and any changes in the same which may be made from time to time, shall be reported to the Board for approval, and, when adopted, shall be followed as nearly as the qualifications of the pupils will permit.

The Committee shall have authority to make such minor rules and regulations for the government of the evening schools as may be found necessary, and as shall not be inconsistent with the provisions of this By-Law.

It shall report to the Board, for action by that body, a schedule of the salaries to be paid the Supervisors, Principals and assistant teachers of evening schools.

SEC. 10. Unless otherwise ordered by the Board, upon the recommendation of the Committee, the city shall be divided into four districts, to each of which a Supervisor shall be assigned.

The Supervisors shall observe the operation of the course of instruction; see that it is followed by the teachers; explain to them its requirements, and report from time to time to the Committee on Evening Schools such changes in it as they may deem beneficial. They shall impart to the teachers in the evening schools any improvements in methods of teaching which experience or observation may suggest.

They shall devote their time to visiting the schools assigned them; see that all rules for their government are enforced; take account of supplies on hand and supplies needed, and of the number of pupils in attendance; examine as to the condition and progress of the schools, and make weekly reports to the Committee.

They shall render such aid and communicate such information to the Committee on Evening Schools as it may require of them, and shall attend all meetings of the General Committee, and any meeting of a Sub-Committee, when requested by the Chairman thereof.

At the end of the term they shall make full report of the work done in the evening schools, furnishing all details that enter into the report made by the Evening Schools Committee to the Board of Public Education.

Committee on the Lewis Elkin Fund.

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the Committee to consider all applications of persons who desire to become beneficiaries of "The Lewis Elkin Fund for the relief of disabled female school teachers in the employ of the City of Philadelphia;" and to determine the right of such applicants, or any of them, to be made such beneficiaries, in accordance with the provisions of the testator's will and of this By-Law.

SEC. 2. The applications shall be made on printed forms to be furnished by the Committee. They shall contain the oath or affirmation of the applicant to the truth of the statements therein contained, and her promise to notify the Committee whenever, and as soon as, there shall be any accession to her income or means of support. They shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope, addressed to the President of the Board of Public Education, having these words only written on the outside of the envelope, viz.:—"Application to be made a beneficiary of the Lewis Elkin Fund." The President shall, thereupon, place them in the hands of the Committee, for consideration and final action. All such applications shall be entered, with the dates on which they were respectively received, in a register to be kept for this purpose; and they shall be considered by the Committee in the order in which they were made. Applications informally made prior to the adoption of this By-Law shall not lose their claim to precedence.

SEC. 3. In determining the right of the respective applicants to become beneficiaries, the Committee shall be governed by the following-named directions: While the service of the applicant as a teacher in the Public Schools of this city must aggregate a total not less than twenty-five years, such service need not have been continuous. The applicant may already have left the service; or, being yet in the service, she may leave it for sufficient disability. Service in the Public Evening Schools, or as a substitute, shall not be computed. Residence elsewhere than in Philadelphia shall not disqualify any applicant. The words "unmarried female teacher" shall be taken to include widows and women who have been legally divorced. The words "no means of support" shall be taken to mean no adequate means of support; and an income not exceeding two hundred dollars per annum shall be considered as equivalent to "no means of support." Preference, however, shall always be given to those applicants who have no income whatever, in case their disability shall warrant such preference. The word "disabled" shall be taken to include mental disability, which need not be total; and physical disability due to age, or to any disease, infirmity or affliction, which unfits the applicant to teach, although she may still be in the service.

SEC. 4. In addition to the applicant's oath or affirmation to the truth of the statements made in the application, the Committee may require her personal attendance, in order that she may be interrogated, under oath or affirmation, as fully as may be deemed necessary to determine her right to become a beneficiary of the fund. The Committee shall have the right to call and to examine, under oath or affirmation, such other witnesses, including medical experts, as may be needed for the proper determination of the application.

SEC. 5. When the Committee, after full consideration of any application, shall have determined that the applicant is eligible as a beneficiary of the fund, and shall have directed that she shall be so certified to "The Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities," it shall be the duty of the President and the Secretary of the Board of Public Education, upon the request of the Chairman of the Committee, to place their official signatures upon such certificate, which shall then be given to the applicant for deposit with "The Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities."

SEC. 6. The Committee shall keep a full record of its proceedings in the case of each applicant, showing the claim or the right of such applicant, under the provisions of the will and of this By-Law, to become a beneficiary of the Fund. Such record shall be open to the inspection of the President of the Board of Public Education and the proper officers of "The Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities;" and to no other person or persons whatever, except by the unanimous vote of the members of the Committee.

SEC. 7. To guard against any possible suspicion of favoritism in determining who may be made beneficiaries of the Fund, the Committee shall, at all times, strictly follow the provisions of this By-Law.

SEC. 8. As it is the express wish of the testator that the names of the women who shall receive the benefits of this Fund shall not be made public, the meetings of the Committee shall be attended only by the applicants, such witnesses as may be called, and such clerical assistants as the Committee may need.

In stating the question upon which the vote is to be taken, the President shall expressly announce that the proposition in question is contrary to the provisions of one or more of its By-Laws, and that a vote of two-thirds of the whole number of members of the Board will be requisite for its adoption. This By-Law shall not affect the provisions of the By-Laws relating to amendments.

SEC. 6. If, after the conclusion of the June examination for promotion, application for admission to any of the higher schools shall be made by boys or girls who were not domiciled in this city at the time of the examination, or who were prevented from taking or completing that examination on account of personal illness or death in their immediate families (which fact shall be certified by the attending physician), or for any other equally conclusive reason, such application shall be placed in the hands of the Superintendent of Schools, who shall submit the same, with all necessary information, to a committee consisting of the President of the Board, the Chairmen of the respective Committees on the Higher Schools, and the Chairman of the Committee on Elementary Schools. If said Committee shall be satisfied that such applications are made in good faith and are not evasions of the provisions of Section 1 of this Rule, it may direct the examination of any or all of said applicants for the purpose of determining their respective qualification for admission to the school and class which they respectively desire to enter. Applicants for admission to the lowest class in any of said schools shall be examined upon the branches named in Section 3, on questions to be prepared by the Superintendent. Applicants for admission to any of the higher classes of said schools shall be examined by the respective Presidents or Principals of the higher schools, upon questions prepared by them or (under their direction) by the members of the faculties of their respective schools, which will thoroughly test the qualification of the applicants for admission to such classes. The results of such examinations shall be reported by the respective Presidents or Principals of said schools to the Superintendent, who may, thereupon, with the approval of said Committee, in all cases where the applicants so examined shall have obtained the general and minimum averages requisite for admission to the lowest class in any of said schools, and in all cases where the applicants for admission to any of the higher classes thereof shall have been found qualified therefor, certify their names to the respective Committees on the higher schools to which they seek admission. SEC. 7. The sum to be so paid shall be ascertained by dividing the total yearly cost of maintaining the school by the whole number of pupils attending the school at its opening in September, and the quotient, giving the cost of instruction per pupil for the year, shall be the sum which such pupil shall pay.
